1105-1139 William St. (East side)

Baltimore, Md.

Private access

The east side of the 1100 block of William St. is improved with a variety of house types dating over a wide range of years. At 1105 William St. there is a two story plus attic, two bay wide brick house, built in the early 1840's. 1107-1109 and 1111-1113 William St. are pairs of three story, two bay wide brick houses with shed roofs and bracketed cornices, built in the late 1850's or 1860's. 1115-1117 William St. is a pair of three story, three bay wide brick houses with shed roofs but no extant roof cornice probably built in the early 1880's; 1119 William St. is a three story, two bay wide brick house with shed roof but no extant roof cornice, built in the late 1870's. At 1121 William St. there is a late Victorian style two story, two bay wide brick house with shed roof and bracketed cornice, built in the late 1870's; 1123 and 1125 William St. are both two story plus attic, two bay wide brick houses, built in the 1840's; 1127 William St. is a late Victorian style two story, three bay wide brick house with shed roof and bracketed cornice, built in the early 1890's; and 1129 William St. is the remaining two story, two bay wide brick back building of the original house that once stood at the front of the lot, probably built in the 1840's or 1850's. At 1131-1133 and 1135-1137 William St. there are two pairs of three story, two bay wide brick houses with shed roofs and bracketed cornices, built in the late 1870's or early 1880's. Finally, at 1139 William St. there is a two story, two bay wide brick house with gable roof set perpendicular to William St. This original gable-roofed house is now obscured behind a later two story front with flat roofline. The modernized structure, with deep rear addition, now serves as a bakery.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story plus attic brick house with gable roof was built in the 1840's and is one of the few survivors in close to original forme of the group of gable roofed houses that once extended along this side of William St. The house has been covered with formstone.

The house is two and a half stories in height, 15' wide, and occupies a lot 58' deep. The house is two rooms deep and there is a one story high, two bay deep rear addition. The house is constructed in running bond but the facade has been covered with formstone. The low-pitched gable roof has a two-tier brick cornice. There is a double rectangular chimney located along both the front and rear roof gables on the south side of the house.

Although the original treatment of the door and window lintels and sills has been hidden by the formstone covering, it is apparent that the openings had flat lintels. The first and second story window openings are filled with 1/1 double hung sash; the attic story windows are filled with 3/3 double hung sash. A panel door with upper lights is set beneath a single light transom. The house sits on a high basement, the entrance being reached by four stone steps. There is a square-shaped coal opening with metal cover located beneath the first floor window. A flat-roofed alleyway runs back under the northernmost bay of the house.

SPECIFIC DATES c. late 1840's BUILDER/ARCHITECT William Neale

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

See under 1105 William St.

The house seems to have been built by William Neale, an engineer and the husband of Mary Berger Neale, whose father originally owned both this lot and the lot adjoining to the north. The house stayed in the Neale family and as late as 1894 Edward F. Neale, William's son, a contractor, is listed as living at this address.¹
